Drafts A–E

Scriptural passages in the note on the omnipresence of God

'... that they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, though he be not far from every one of us. For in him we live, and move, and have our being, as certain also of your own poets have said, "For we are also his offspring".' Acts 17:27–28 (Drafts B, C, D, E)

'Know therefore this day, and consider it in thy heart, that the LORD he is God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none else'. Deuteronomy 4:39 (Drafts B, C, D, E)

'Behold, the heaven and the heaven of heavens is the LORD's thy God, the earth also, with all that therein is'. Deuteronomy 10:14 (Drafts B, C, D, E)

'But will God indeed dwell on the earth? Behold, the heaven and heaven of heavens cannot contain thee:

how much less this house that I have built? 1 Kings 8:27 (Drafts B, C, D, E)

*'Is not God in the height of heaven?
and behold the height of the stars, how high they are.
And thou sayest, "How doth God know?
can he judge through the dark cloud?
Thick clouds are a covering to him that he seeth not,
and he walketh in the circuit of heaven".'* Job 22:12–14 (Drafts B, C, D, E)

Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? Psalms 139:7 (Drafts B, C, D, E)

*'Am I a God at hand,' saith the LORD,
'and not a God afar off?
Can any hide himself in secret places that I shall not see him?' saith the LORD.
'Do not I fill heaven and earth?' saith the LORD.* Jeremiah 23:23–24 (Drafts B, C, D, E)

Scriptural passages in the note on the invisibility of God

No man hath seen God at any time: the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him. John 1:18 (Drafts C, D)

And the Father himself, which hath sent me, hath borne witness of me. Ye have neither heard his voice at any time, nor seen his shape. John 5:37 (Drafts C, D)

No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us. 1 John 4:12 (Drafts C, D)

Now unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honour and glory for ever and ever. Amen. 1 Timothy 1:17 (Drafts C, D)

I give thee charge in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Christ Jesus, who before Pontius Pilate witnessed a good confession, that thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukeable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ: which in his times he shall show, who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, and Lord of lords: who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light which no man can approach unto, whom no man hath seen, nor can see: to whom be honour and power everlasting. Amen.

1 Timothy 6:13–16 (verse 16 underlined; Drafts C, D)

Giving thanks unto the Father, which hath made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light: who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son, in whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins: who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature.

Colossians 1:12–15 (verse 15 underlined;
Drafts C, D)

Scriptural passages in the note on the non-representability of God (final form)

‘Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth.’

Exodus 20:4 (Draft C)

‘And the LORD spoke unto you out of the midst of the fire: ye heard the voice of the words, but saw no similitude; only ye heard a voice. And he declared unto you his covenant, which he commanded you to perform, even ten commandments; and he wrote them upon two tables of stone.

‘And the LORD commanded me at that time to teach you statutes and judgments, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go over to possess it. Take ye therefore good heed unto yourselves (for ye saw no manner of similitude on the day that the LORD spoke unto you in Horeb out of the midst of the fire), lest ye corrupt yourselves, and make you a graven image, the similitude of any figure, the likeness of male or female, the likeness of any beast that is on the earth, the likeness of any winged fowl that flieth in the air, the likeness of anything that creepeth on the ground, the likeness of any fish that is in the waters beneath the earth: and lest thou lift up thine eyes unto heaven, and when thou seest the sun, and the moon, and the stars, even all the host of heaven, shouldest be driven to worship them, and serve them, which the LORD thy God hath divided unto all nations under the whole heaven’.

Deuteronomy 4:12–19 (verses 12, 15, 16 underlined; Draft C)

To whom then will ye liken God?
or what likeness will ye compare unto him?
The workman melteth a graven image,
and the goldsmith spreadeth it over with gold,
and casteth silver chains.

Isaiah 40:18–19 (Draft C)

‘Forasmuch then as we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man’s device’.

Acts 17:29 (Draft C)

Scriptural passages in the note on the generation of sons

‘Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth?’

declare, if thou hast understanding.

Who hath laid the measures thereof, if thou knowest?

or who hath stretched the line upon it?

when the morning stars sang together,
and all the sons of God shouted for joy?

God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands: neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed any thing, seeing he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things, and hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation: that they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, though he be not far from every one of us. For in him we live, and move, and have our being, as certain also of your own poets have said, "For we are also his offspring". Forasmuch then as we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man's device.

For by him were all things created that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him. And he is before all things, and by him all things consist. And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the pre-eminence.

Colossians 1:15–18 (verse 18 underlined)

John to the seven churches in Asia: grace be unto you, and peace, from him which is, and which was, and which is to come, and from the seven Spirits which are before his throne: and from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first-begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood, and hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father: to him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

Commentary

With respect to notes † and * in Draft C, the darker colour of the ink used in note † and in the deletions in note *, along with the fact that the verses deleted in note * (re)appear in note †, strongly suggest that note * was written first, with note † being assembled later in the process of composition from select verses taken from the originally longer form of note †. Precisely the same verses in note † of Draft C, constitute those in note b of Draft D (albeit in a slightly different order). The separation of the verses in the original form of note * creates a distinction between passages on the invisibility of God from those prohibiting iconolatry. Newton sees both sets of verses as teaching the incorporeality of God, something he discusses in both the drafts and published versions of the General Scholium.
